

No Room in Arkansas for Any But the Hot Springs Track

Governor McMath is to be commended for his determined and vigorous action breaking up the conspiracy which plotted a second horse-racing track for Arkansas.

When the original State Racing Commission out of a clear sky voted to advertise for bids for a track franchise in St. Francis county McMath fired the members and appointed a new body. The governor's views on the second track proposal, which has been agitated in east Arkansas for several years, were a matter of public record when he first ran for governor; the commissioners were bound to abide by the policies of the man who appointed them — and their attempt to run a double-cross in the final month of the McMath administration is a betrayal which will boomerang against the east Arkansas promoters who involved them.

The legal technicalities about what the State Racing Commission can or cannot do are important only to lawyers. It is the people of Arkansas who hold the final vote. And the people themselves have long been on record that there is room for only one track in this state.

Racing was brought back to Arkansas solely as a concession to our famous winter sport, Hot Springs National Park. The Oklahoma track was permitted to reopen because, (1) It was the state's one and only racing plant, (2) Hot Springs claimed a racing season was needed if the resort were to remain on a competitive footing with other winter playgrounds, and (3) The question concerned the desires of out-of-state visitors rather than our own people.

Arkansas took a tolerant view and went along with Hot Springs. But none of these considerations apply to the track currently proposed by the east Arkansas "promoters." All they want to do is to circumvent the anti-racing laws of Tennessee and make a play for some easy money on the multitudes out of Memphis.

After all, Hot Springs is a special case. And we've given it the consideration which a nationally famous attraction deserves.

But the granting of one more track franchise, whether in St. Francis county or anywhere else in the state, will spell the end of horse-racing in Arkansas. Hot Springs included. The fact is perfectly obvious.

Being a Hot Springs man himself Governor McMath may have felt some embarrassment in this matter, but the public record on horse-racing was set up long before he was elected. The people understand that. And the governor makes a creditable final bow as he leaves the executive mansion — knocking over some faithless commissioners and blocking an action which the people recognize as a brazen double-cross.

Thompson Is New Revenue Commissioner

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Horace E. Thompson, president of Arkansas A. & M. College at Monticello and former internal revenue collector, will be Gov.-elect Francis Cherry's state revenue commissioner.

Cherry, who made the announcement yesterday, said he "lost track of how many times he (Thompson) turned it down before he accepted."

Once an unsuccessful candidate for governor, the 55-year-old college president, has been granted a 1-year leave of absence by the A. & M. Board. Thompson said he probably wouldn't be able to assume office next week when cherry becomes governor.

Thompson, a native of Hot Springs County, served overseas in World War One, returned to finish high school and attend Arkansas State College and the University of Arkansas.

After graduating from the University in 1928, he taught vocational agriculture for two years; then joined the Agricultural Extension Service. He climbed from the job of county agent to associate director in 1941, when he left to work with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington. In 1943, Thompson was named president of Arkansas State at Jonesboro.

He subsequently was a part of federal revenue collector for Arkansas a post he resigned to run unsuccessfully for governor in 1948. He went to A&M on Aug. 15, 1948.

Church Loses Fight to Bar Service Station

An application to build a gasoline service station at the corner of Pine and Third Streets was granted by the Hope City Council last night despite a protest from the Board of Stewards of the First Methodist Church.

The application was presented to N. U. Cassidy who was represented by C. V. Nunn Jr. W. A. Mudgett represented the church. The council vote came in a closed session where the matter was fully discussed and the ballot was unanimous.

This action followed ceremonies in which the city clerk was sworn in by Mayor John L. Wilson. Mrs. Charles Heynerson, in turn, administered the oath of office to two new councilmen and one incumbent, Joe Jones, Ward 1; Dwight Ridgill 2 and B. L. Rettig 3.

A bill from a construction company for use of an air compressor was denied as the Mayor and council members indicated it was their understanding that the equipment was to be used without charge.

An application from the Lion Oil company to enlarge and replace a company warehouse near Highway 4 and the Frisco Railway was granted without objection.

A committee composed of C. W. Tarpley, Dwight Ridgill and Joe Jones was named to study type insurance coverage and future coverage program for the city.

A resolution was passed allowing the city clerk to enter into an agreement with the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway a permit to excavate, lay, construct and maintain a four inch water line under the right-of-way.

In other action the council named a group, Joe Jones, C. W. Tarpley and H. C. Murphy, to meet Wednesday with Engineers to study recommendations concerning the city water supply.

The matter of pay raises for city employees was delayed until completion of an audit report; and the question of renting equipment was turned over to the Street Department.

New committee named:
Water and Light: Joe Jones, Dwight Ridgill and H. C. Murphy
Fire: Charles Taylor, Joe Jones and Jesse Brown. Finance: Howard Byers, Dwight Ridgill, Jesse Brown, Cemetery: H. C. Murphy, Dwight Ridgill, C. W. Tarpley, Police: H. C. ## Trench Silo Success Is Evidenced

The trench silo in the ground on the Roy Fry Ranch west of Hope was opened today.

A trench type above the ground holding about 3500 cubic feet of corn silage has been fed in entirety since late November. Feeding from this silo was shown to 54 farmers on December 11 at a meeting arranged by County Agent Oliver L. Adams.

The silage in the second silo to be opened on the Fry Ranch appears to be as good if not better than the silage in the first. The trench contains about 6000 cubic feet of silage.

The silage in the two Fry trenches was harvested from about 50 acres of droughty corn in mid-August. Individual livestock producers interested in providing ample roughage for livestock on the Fry might well advise with Mr. Fry who is considering increasing his acreage of silage crops in 1953 suggests County Agent Adams.

The first step in quality silage production is the testing of the soil so that proper fertilization may be carried out. No feed crop is of the highest quality unless the plant going into the feed is properly fed. See your county agent for soil test information at once so that your report will be available at planting season.

TEXARKANA — Julius Conway, 68-year-old Texarkana Negro, died Tuesday from injuries suffered when he was struck by a car Saturday night. He suffered a skull fracture and lacerations and never regained consciousness.

Louie Singleton, 22, McNab, Ark., driver of the car, fled the scene of the accident but later surrendered to Arkansas police after driving to Hope and back. He was booked as a hit-run driver and released on $1,500 bond. Officials are studying the case to determine the nature of charges to file.

Would Limit Governors to Four Years

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Pulaski County Grand Jury, which has tied gubernatorial campaign expenses into its investigation of Arkansas Highway Department operations, thinks the governor should be limited to one term of four years.

This was one of a number of recommendations made by the Grand Jury yesterday in the second interim report handed down since it began probing further into Highway Audit Commission findings regarding the Highway Department.

In its first report, the Grand Jury said "irregularities uncovered by the highway audit can be directly attributed to the high cost of running for governor."

And yesterday's report called the campaign expenses "shocking."

The Grand Jury said "one prominent road equipment dealer" contributed to all five candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination last year and added:

"Approximately 98 per cent of these heavy contributors were persons or firms interested in doing business with various agencies of the state government."

"It is obvious that multiple and anonymous contributions were not made in the interest of furthering good government."

The Grand Jurors said a 4-year term should enable the governor to "attend his duties during his term of office."

Doomed Convict Gets Reprieve

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Elated Robert Ernest Miers, his prayers for life answered by his eleventh-hour stay of execution, changed hurriedly from his burial suit to a tuxedo and prepared to eat the "last meal" he had refused earlier.

Miers, 22, saved by a three-day stay issued about 25 minutes before he was to walk to the electric chair, said, "I'm sure going to sleep good tonight. I certainly got back my appetite."

He had refused food for two days.

Just About Everyone At Times Yearns to Leave a Modest Hoofprint in Sands of Time

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone yearns to leave a modest hoofprint in the sands of time.

There are two ways to do this: 1. Do something in the world yourself to put your mark upon it. This method is for the restless, two-wheeler, go-getting type of individual, such as Napoleon or the people who climb to the top of the Washington Monument just to scratch their initials there.

2. Keep a diary. Then after generations will honor you, not for your great personal deeds but because your shrewd insight has given the real inside story of your time.

As the average man is born with a strong inclination to rest on his oars while he criticizes the other fellow's rowing, most people at one period of life or another start a diary with the secret hope it will win them ultimate fame.

Since I easily developed an utter appetite for leisure, that is the path to renown I chose. I suppose I have started and stopped my diary 20 times. Any future historian who reads it and tries to figure out what life in the Twentieth Century was like will have a lot of gaps to fill in from somebody else's diary.

The earliest entries are marked by a sure judgement and a keen observation: "Agnes Stubble is the ugliest girl in the class. . . Old Man Robbins came home drunk again last night. Ha, ha, ha!"

Then came the dawning of the old struggle between love and friendship: "Harry Bentley wouldn't stay and play marbles after school. He was goofy over a girl in the fourth grade, and he's in the fifth grade."

Filibuster Group Battles for Change

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators hoping to break the back of future filibusters fought on today for an immediate change in Senate rules despite talk by Republican leaders they would do better to wait.

Although almost certainly doomed to failure by the opposition of Southern Democrats and a big majority of Republican senators, the filibuster foes contended their only chance lay in getting action before the Senate settles down to work under existing rules.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) said that if it is decided the rules of the preceding Senate automatically apply to the new Senate, "we may as well say farewell to any chance for civil rights legislation or needed changes in Senate procedure."

"In slang parlance, we may kiss such a possibility goodbye," said Douglas in a speech prepared for the resumption of the debate which opened yesterday after the Senate joined with the House in counting the presidential electoral vote.

Although Sen. Taft of Ohio, majority leader in the new GOP-controlled Senate, said he would like to bring the rules scrap to an end today, there were signs a vote might be put off until tomorrow to allow more time for debate.

Both the Senate and the House, meanwhile, were to receive President Truman's message on the State of the Union. The House then planned to call it quits for the day. GOP senators had one other major item of business — a morning conference to pass upon a proposal for enlarging all major committees.

Dodge Meets With Budget Directors

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph M. Dodge, who will be President-elect Eisenhower's budget director, today opens a series of conferences with Republican Cabinet designees aimed at cutting President Truman's new budget.

He told reporters last night it will be impossible to turn off spending in the vast federal government as one would turn off a switch in a toy train.

"You can't perform any 90-day miracles," he said.

Dodge expects that the new administration will start sending budget revisions to Congress by early April.

He declined to forecast the size of cuts he deems possible in the Truman budget, which informed officials have indicated will call for Continued on Page Two

Plane Carrying 41 Is Overdue, Presumed Lost

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (UP) — A non-scheduled C-46 airliner carrying 41 persons, including 37 veterans en route home from Korea, was overdue and presumed down today in rugged, sparsely populated western Wyoming or southern Idaho.

The plane was en route from Boeing field at Seattle, Wash., to Fort Jackson, S. C. The army said the servicemen were from the area around Fort Jackson.

The plane was owned and operated by the Associated Air Transport Company under contract to the Army.

The twin-engine plane, which carried a crew of four, last was reported at 3:56 a. m. (MST) (5:56 a. m. EST) over Malad, Idaho, 100 miles north of Salt Lake City, where it made a routine report.

The plane, had been scheduled to make a refueling stop at Cheyenne, Wyo. It failed to make a routine report over Rock Springs, which is about 180 airline miles southeast of Salt Lake City.

The Wyoming Civil Air Patrol sent out four planes on a search toward the west and northwest in the direction of Malad. Four Air Force planes were sent from Lowry Air Force base at Denver, headquarters of the 44th Air Rescue Squadron.

Around World Rider Passes Through Hope

Bob (Jagalong) Jacobs, 22-year-old Florida man who is seeing the world on horseback, rode into Hope about 11 a. m. today. He was escorted from the city limits by local riders.

Jacobs left Temple Hills, Maryland, near Washington, D. C., on October 7 and has ridden some 1,500 miles. During that time he has worn out three horses and is on the fourth.

The rider, who spent 4 1/2 years in the airforce, plans to be in Fort Worth for a rodeo which opens on January 29. He is seeing the world from horseback and seems awfully pleased with experiences so far.

At various laps along the way the rider plans to write a book of his experiences to help finance the adventure which is currently being financed from his own pocket.

He spends the night wherever the notion hits him and is very familiar with jails having stayed in eight. He rides from 35 to 60 miles away.

"I'm retired and having lots of fun at 22," he laughed.

Reveals New Era in Destruction in Farewell Talk

By TON MOORE

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Truman solemnly warned Russian Premier Josef Stalin today that the United States has developed a "new era of destructive power" which "will ruin your regime and your home" in case of World War III.

In his farewell State of the Union message to Congress, Mr. Truman said that record "H-bomb" test in Eniwetok showed "new era of destructive power" and man is now "capable of creating explosions of a new order of magnitude, dwarfing the mushroom clouds of Hiroshima and Nagasaki."

"There is something I would say to Stalin," Mr. Truman said. "You claim 'bolsh' in Lenin's prophecy that one stage in the development of Communist society would be 'war between your world and ours.'"

"But war has changed its shape and its dimension. It cannot now be a stage in the development of anything save ruin for you, mine and our homeland."

He predicted even more terrible atomic weapons than H-bombs with "unfathomable peaks of destructive power."

"In any future world war," Truman said, "millions of people could be killed and great cities annihilated with one bomb. The structure of this civilization would be destroyed."

Mr. Truman devoted the major part of his 11,000 word message to a review of what he termed "very great" accomplishments of his administration and a defense of its policies, both domestic and foreign.

He made no legislative recommendations, explaining that he did not wish to "interfere upon the responsibility" of his successor, Dwight D. Eisenhower, to "chart the forward course" of the nation.

Mr. Truman sent his farewell message to be read by clerks in the Republican House and Senate, instead of delivering it in person before a joint session as he has done in past years.

His grave report on the H-bomb and its awesome implications and the world came near the end of his unusually long address.

While he never referred to many words to a hydrogen bomb, he made his meaning abundantly clear when he said that the "thermonuclear tests at Eniwetok" marked the beginning of other stages in the world's development of atomic energy.

He renewed his plea for effect. Continued on Page Two

Investigation of Desertions Is Requested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Bridges (R-Mich.) called today for "an immediate investigation" of desertions from the army and navy to avoid Korean combat duty.

The Pentagon discounted the seriousness of the situation.

"Any probe should be by Senate Armed Services Committee or its preparatory subcommittee," Bridges told a reporter.

Bridges soon may be chairman of the subcommittee. Pentagon officials said the recent count of desertions, which has not been picked up, or has been turned voluntarily, ran about 1,000 under service regulations.

Normally is not counted as deserter unless he has been absent at least 30 days. The total is merely absent without leave (AWOL) would be much higher.

The Pentagon figures were in comment on a congressional file in the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal yesterday that given day "enough able-bodied men to make up two complete divisions are eligible as deserters or AWOL." This would mean 36,000.

The Army said about 1,000 men have deserted since the start of the Korean war, except 11,000 investigations or have been picked up. Force reported that 1,000 men deserted since the start of the war.

As far as known, none of the 1,000 ever has been recovered.

Sandburg Returns to Chicago

CHICAGO (U) — Carl Sandburg returned to Chicago, the city which he once called "big shouldered" and "proud to be alive," and found it to be just that at a celebration of his 75th birthday anniversary.

More than 500 friends, admirers and contemporaries jammed the Crystal Room of the Blackstone Hotel last night to honor the famous poet, biographer and novelist.

Sandburg, serious and witty, accepted the many honors and gifts bestowed upon him. He was a warm and hearty tribute to the poet from the Illinois State Bar Association, who first gained recognition in the literary world in 1914 with publication of his poem in a Chicago magazine.

Congratulatory messages were received from hundreds, including European dignitaries and President Truman.

Swedish Ambassador Erik Boheman, on behalf of King Gustav VI, presented the bard the Order of the Northern Star.

Referring to his birthday party, Sandburg said at 75, "I'm possible, I'm probable, but at 75, when International control of atomic energy, and said both Russia and America must remember that neither side can win more than a "temporary" advantage in the atomic arms race.

"War today between the Soviet empire and the free nations might dig the grave not only of our Stalinist opponents, but of our own society, our world as well as theirs," he said.

But he was frankly pessimistic over the prospects of Stalin and the Kremlin recognizing in the near future that neither Russia nor any other nation could win an all out war in the new H-bomb era.

"We cannot measure how deep-rooted are the Kremlin's illusions about us," Mr. Truman said. "We can be sure, however, that the rulers of the Communist world will not change their basic objectives lightly or soon."

"This means there is ahead of us a long hard test of strength and stamina, between the free world and the Communist domain."

Mr. Truman said Eisenhower on Jan. 20 will take up the "greatest burdens, the most compelling responsibilities" ever to fall upon a man.

"And I," he said, "with you and all Americans, wish for him all possible success in undertaking the tasks that so soon will be his."

Mr. Truman conceded that there "can and should be changes and improvements in our programs" under the new Republican administration.

"But," he added, "to desert the spirit of our basic policies... would surely start the free world's slide toward the darkness that the Communist have prophesied."

Mr. Truman predicted that if his administration's basic foreign policies are continued, "then inevitably there will come a time to change within the Communist world."

He said such a change might come about by "deliberate decision in the Kremlin, by coup d'etat, by revolution, by defection of satellites, or perhaps by some unforeseen combination of factors such as these."

He said the Communist regime has "one fatal flaw: the weakness represented by their Iron Curtain and their police state."

"Surely," he said, "a social order at once to insecure and so fearful, must ultimately lose its competitiveness with our free society."

But, Mr. Truman said, the United States and its Allies of the free world must be strong militarily and economically, and stay united.

"We must go on," he said, "working with our free associates, building an international structure for military defense, and for economic, social and political progress. We must be prepared for war, because war may be thrust upon us."

"But the stakes in our search for peace are immensely higher than they have ever been before."

Mr. Truman said his administration's basic foreign policy had the twin goals of military security and human progress in the free world.

This policy, he said, "at the very least" has averted an all out, atomic war.

close to 90 billion dollars in federal spending and 73 1/2 billions in new funds in the fiscal year 1954, starting next July 1.

Dodge, a Detroit banker, was designated last week to become Eisenhower's Budget Bureau director, but for several weeks previously he had been in Washington watching preparation of the Truman budget due to be sent to Congress Friday.

Reporters were surprised, therefore, when he told them he did not know what the total Truman request would be since he had seen only "some parts" of the budget.

He said he had not asked to know the total sum. He added he had not been denied any information he requested.

He said he expects to invite Eisenhower's incoming department heads, one by one, to talks with Budget Bureau officials, starting today.

In a prepared statement handed newsmen, Dodge re-emphasized that the Truman budget is one "completely developed and predeveloped and prepared by the outgoing administration," without aid or recommendations from Eisenhower's liaison men in Washington.

Girl Treated for Rabies

MEMPHIS (AP)—A 5-year-old girl was undergoing stepped-up anti-rabies treatment today despite her parents' belief that prayer had healed the mad dog bite on her face.

Linda Carole Smith was made a ward of juvenile court yesterday and Judge Elizabeth McCain ordered her to a hospital for the rabies injections. Dr. S. J. Wadley said since the bite on Linda's cheek was six days old, he had decided she should be given two shots daily for three days then one a day until further notice. Normal treatment is one a day for 14 days.

Physicians said the anti-rabies injections usually prevent the disease if given in time. However, once rabies develops, death is virtually certain.

Linda was bitten on the cheek New Year's Day by her pet dog

Lucky. The dog died of rabies in the humane shelter. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Smith, had refused treatment on the ground that their pastor's prayer and "the touch of God" had healed the bite.

Three Teams Hit Back at Browns

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees have stricken off the St. Louis Browns from their home night schedule for 1953. This was termed as a "reprisal" measure in return for Browns President Bill Veeck's television blackout decree for his team's games in Cleveland and New York — unless he is cut in on the TV fees.

All day games are listed for the Browns in Cleveland. The Yankees originally allotted two night games to the Browns, but when Veeck refused to budget from his original stand, they were taken away. The Yankees, incidentally, are trying to arrange some 20 telecasts into New York from the road.

Hope Teams No Match for Emerson Fives

Two Hope basketball teams went to Emerson last night and both were soundly defeated by lopsided scores.

The Hope girls lost out 41 to 25, despite the 15 points tossed in by Rogers.

The boys didn't fare a bit better going down 50 to 36. Match was high for Hope with 14, Bruce tossed in 9 and Griffin 7.

The Bobcats enter the Henderson tournament Thursday night, playing Arkadelphia at 7:30.

Wyoming Is Undecided

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — It isn't clear yet whether the University of Wyoming will combat an expected attempt by its head football coach, Bowden Wyatt, to resign.

But President G. D. Humphrey said yesterday the Board of Trustees would not call a special session to act on such a resignation. It would have to wait the next regularly scheduled meeting, Feb. 28, he said.

Wyatt is the No. 1 candidate to fill the coaching vacancy at the University of Arkansas. His contract at Wyoming has nine years to run.

CARL BELL

LITTLE ROCK (AP) Minor league baseball has had some pretty rough sailing, and the seas have been growing more turbulent in recent years.

However, hope for better days in the future is seen by Al Haraway, the big and jolly president of the class C Cotton States League, which currently embraces the Arkansas cities of Hot Springs, Pine Bluff and El Dorado.

The Cotton States circuit is a typical minor league, though it has displayed more determination to survive than many others.

Organized in 1902 with only four teams, the CSL has obtained its fluctuating membership from 33 cities in Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas, Louisiana, Florida and Alabama. It has been shut down by two wars, yellow fever, boll weevils and floods.

But it always has come back. It has operated in 39 of the past 51 years.

While it has taken the extreme conditions mentioned to inactivate Haraway's league, the most prolonged headache has been one of finances.

"Most of our club owners don't expect to make money," says Haraway, who calls Helena home.

"They're happy to break even and keep the game going. But they don't always break even."

Haraway blames a number of things for the league's financial worries.

"This is class C baseball played in relatively small cities and it's hard to get crowds for a losing team."

"One thing that definitely has hurt minor league attendance is the complete saturation of major league broadcasts. Take a man who lives in a rural area. He listens to a big league broadcast rather than driving four or five miles into town to see a minor league game. Even if the broadcast is in the afternoon he's had his fill of baseball by the time the minor league game near him is played."

that night and he will stay at home.

"Another thing that has hurt attendance, I think, is the drive-in movie. To go to a baseball game, a couple has to pay a baby sitter, buy their tickets, popcorn, drinks and this and that. It all adds up to three or four dollars at the least. They can load the whole family into the car and go to a drive-in movie for about a buck."

Haraway thinks the big leagues' farm systems have "choked a lot of clubs and leagues to death."

Big bonuses to young players has been a big handicap to the locally operated independent minor clubs who can't hope to match bonuses being paid out of fat big league pocketbooks. This situation has made it harder for the independents to build winning teams so necessary as gate appeal.

Haraway thinks the new bonus rule, adopted at the winter baseball meetings, will prove a big help to the minor independents.

Under this rule, if a club pays a boy more than $4,000 — including his first season's salary, that boy becomes a bonus player, subject to unrestricted draft. This rule is figured to make clubs a bit more cautious in handing out bonuses, since they would risk losing so many prospects through the baseball draft.

The CSL pexy feels the effects of the new rule will begin to show up this year, certainly in 1954.

Haraway also sees hope in what he calls the prospect that "farm systems are on their way out."

"The big league teams are reduring their farm setups all the time," he says. "I think we'll eventually get back to the basis of independently operated minors who can sell their players to the higher class teams to pick up deficits incurred in the season's operations."

Haraway long has advocated breaking up farm systems below class AA.

Financial troubles, relates the CSL head, started the latest chain of developments altering the league's membership.

Greenville, Miss., club operators lost money and sold their franchise to Jackson, Miss. Then, Greenwood lost its working agreement with the Brooklyn Dodgers and surrendered its franchise.

Meanwhile, another group of Greenville citizens — anxious to keep baseball in that city — went to work to try to get the Greenwood franchise. They have until Sunday to do it.

president of the school, said today. Caldwell said the University of Wyoming coach is expected "within a week."

At Washington, Wyatt said today he will visit Fayetteville next Monday to confer with officials about the coaching vacancy.

"I am still at Wyoming," Wyatt said. "I have not resigned. I am merely talking with Arkansas."

Wyatt said if he left that Far Western institution it would be because of his wife's health.

"The climate out there doesn't agree with her," he said.

John Barnhill, Arkansas Athletic director, came to town today for the NCAA convention and said he planned to talk to Wyatt.

"However, I'm sure nothing will be done at this meeting," said Barnhill, who is also a former Tennessean.

Wyatt, all-Southeastern Conference end at Tennessee in 1938, is attending the National Collegiate Athletic Association meeting in Washington, D. C.

Meanwhile, it still wasn't clear whether Wyatt would resign from a 10-year contract which still has nine years to go.

At Laramie, Wyo., President G. D. Humphrey said yesterday the school's Board of Trustees would not call a special session to act on such a resignation. He said the matter would be taken up at the regularly scheduled Feb. 20 meeting.

Owls, Baylor Take Lead in SWC

By The Associated Press

Rice's potent Owls, the in-and-out University of Texas Longhorns, and the defensively strong Baylor Bears held a one-game edge over the rest of the Southwest Conference today.

Rice defeated Southern Methodist, upset conquerors of the Owls in the recent conference tournament, 64-44, in one of three opening games Tuesday night as Texas defeated Texas Christian, 55-35, and Baylor downed the Texas A&M, 60-44. Arkansas' Razorbacks were idle.

The Owls were in command all the way in Houston Tuesday night. They took the lead from the opening tip-off, held a 23-8 advantage early in the second quarter and stayed out in front despite persistent Methodist shot-making.

Gene Schwilger and Don Lance carried the burden for the victorious Owls. Lance dropped in 20 points to 27 for the stellar Schwilger. Art Barnes paced SMU scorers with 14 points.

The English word "lead" derives from the Amoy dialect of Chinese.

Defeat of Filibuster Move Obvious

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The fight of the 10 Democratic and Republican senators to make it easier to attack Southern Democratic filibusters against civil rights bills was pretty well foredoomed. They want the Senate, here at the start of its 1933 business, to amend all the old rules under which it has been operating since 1852. The only which makes it practically impossible to force a filibuster. Only an optimist could have believed they'd achieve it. About the most they can achieve, it seems, is to call the country's attention once more to the fact that under the present Senate rule filibusters are still about unbreakable. An examination of the rule which is causing all the argument will show that, if the effort of the 10 senators fails, there's not much reason to expect a change in the rule during this Congress. Under the rule, any time a senator makes a motion to bring up a bill which the Southerners don't like, they can filibuster against it. All other Senate business stops during a filibuster. In this way the Southerners can tie the Senate in knots indefinitely since the rule says a filibuster can't be stopped except by a vote of 60-40—a constitutional two-thirds of all 100 senators. There's not much chance of getting such a vote. Therefore the rule makes the Southerners' ability to block civil rights legislation almost from elid.

DEFINITIONS

It is no easy to pick an argument about definitions. Yet when one says the word, child, he does not mean a man of 50 with a beard. However, in the fields of politics or economics the tendency is to foul things up by fighting over private definitions, each thinker coming up with his own. In the hope that there may be a way of stating some ideas with some clarity, I offer a few definitions which seem to be standard: Capitalism: "... capitalism is an economic order based on the profit motive; therefore its leading characteristics are the private ownership of the means of production, their operation for pecuniary gain, their control by private enterprise, and the use of credit and the wage system..." ("The Triumph of American Capitalism," by Louis M. Hacker.) Fundamentally, this system requires human freedom because inherent in it is the right of the individual to use his earnings according to his choice and conscience. Socialism: while the basic concept of socialism is government ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange, the varieties are many, ranging from the mild reformist measures of the left-wing New Dealers to the present state of society in Soviet Russia. In effect, Socialists differ as to whether their aims are to be achieved by "democratic" means or by revolution, depending upon their theory of the speed of change. Although numerous Utopian Socialist concepts existed prior to Karl Marx, he had Frederick Engels founded what has come to be known as "scientific" socialism, the basis of which is the biologic assumption of the struggle for existence which Marx accepted from the writings of Charles Darwin and Thomas Huxley. Applying these ideas to politics, economics and sociology, they evolved the Class Struggle.

"The history of all hitherto existing society is the history of class struggles. "Freeman and slave, patrician and plebeian, lord and serf, guild master and journeyman, in a word, oppressor and oppressed, stood in constant opposition to one another, carried on an uninterrupted, now hidden, now open fight, a fight that each time ended, either in a revolutionary reconstitution of society at large, or in the common ruin of the contending classes." ("Communist Manifesto.") There have always been deviations from this position among Socialists. For instance: Fabian Socialism: this is strictly a British form of socialism represented by the Labour Party. The word Fabian represents "to flow." It is a gradual socialism, strictly constitutional means. Even when the Labour Party was in power, it limited its socialization program (in Great Britain, called a nationalization program) to 20 percent of the nation's economy. The founders of Fabian Socialism were Beatrice and Sidney Webb, George Bernard Shaw, H. G. Wells and other intellectuals. Marxism: the economic doctrine of Karl Marx is based on the "Theory of Surplus Value," which, in effect, means that the increased value arises only from the labor value added in the production. Harro Lowel describes this extremely complicated theory as follows: "It is therefore evident that in the production of any given commodity all who do not contribute labor power thereto do not produce value. All, therefore, who receive part of the product without this contribution are parasites robbing labor. Marx accordingly deduced that profit results from the capitalist who lends money or the trader who conducts the process of exchange. All this theorizing would have meant nothing had not a faction of the Russian Social Democratic Party, the Bolsheviks, succeeded by violence in capturing Russia in 1917. Communism: generally the current Russian system is called Communism, which is an error. Communism is now in what they term a socialist stage; to be followed by Communism; which will produce a state of society in which government withers away. The Russians faced the problem of making their ideas work in an antagonistic world. This was accomplished by neither Lenin nor Trotsky nor any of the early Bolsheviks, but by a comparatively obscure adventurer, J. V. Stalin. In April 1924, he delivered a series of lectures at Sverdlov University under the general title of "Foundations of Leninism," which has become the accepted doctrine of Soviet Russia, Soviet China and the satellite states. It is the doctrine of every Communist country in the world. It is a practical and flexible concept of Marxism in the epoch of imperialism and of the proletarian revolution. ## Farmers Get Consideration in New Laws

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Farmers get a few special considerations in the new law because of the nature of their business.

They don't have to make advance estimates of their income as is required of many other persons in business for themselves, provided they file their 1932 return and pay the tax by Jan. 31, 1933. The corresponding deadline for citizens is Jan. 15.

If a farmer chooses to make an advance estimate, however, he can underestimate his income as much as 33 1/2 per cent without penalty. Others are allowed only 20 per cent leeway.

The reason underlying these concessions is the fundamental uncertainty of farming. Drought, flood or fire may wipe out an entire crop. Disease may decimate a valuable herd. It is impossible to predict when nature will smile and offer perfect conditions and an unexpectedly large yield.

Farm produce raised and consumed by the farmer and his family—garden truck, eggs, chickens, hams and so on—do not have to be reported as income. However, the farmer cannot deduct expenses run up in producing such provender.

Farmers have their choice of reporting their income either on a cash or accrual basis but must obtain the consent of the Internal Revenue commissioner to change over from one to the other.

Marvin Lowe, Jr., of Columbus, Ohio, is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Mamie Montgomery.

Miss Sallie M. Higgins has returned to her home in Denver, Colo., after spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Higgins in Emmet.

The Room Mothers Club of Yerger Elementary School held its regular meeting, Monday, January 5, at the school. Nine club members were present and one visitor, Mrs. Della Davis of Dallas, Arkansas.

Plans for organizing branch clubs in communities where children are transported to Yerger Schools were made. Club members volunteered to meet the parents and patrons in these communities and discuss and organize the branch clubs.

It was decided that the purchasing of playground equipment would be one of the club's projects for this school term.

All interested patrons are urged to be present at the club meetings on the first and third Monday in each month.

Inauguration Schedule

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 7.—Here's a timetable (hours are approximate) of the major events scheduled in the retirement of Gov. McMath and the inauguration of Gov. Cherry.

In general, a farmer is regarded in the law as one who operates a farm for profit. "Play" farmers who conduct their operations for recreation or pleasure, with continuing losses from year to year, are not regarded as farmers.

A separate tax schedule, Form 1040F, is provided for farmers.

Taxpayers other than farmers who are required to file advance estimates of income, have until Jan. 15 to make amended estimates and to make the final installment payment on their 1932 estimated tax.

In general, income estimates are required principally of persons whose wages are not subject to withholding, but whose income is derived from dividends, interest, rents or profits.

Ike, UN Choice to Meet Churchill

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—President-elect Eisenhower arranged to confer today with the new administration's ambassador-designate to the United Nations and to meet again with Prime Minister Churchill.

The scheduled session with Henry Cabot Lodge, who will be chief of this country's U. N. mission, gave Eisenhower an opportunity to discuss with the former Massachusetts senator the Korean War policy the general has been working on since he returned from the battle zone last month.

Korea and other world problems also are likely to come up for discussion at an Eisenhower meeting with Churchill late in the day.
